

Open wide for Blake

AS SOON as Blake Testro saw Steve Martin in the 1986 film Little Shop of Horrors, he knew he had to play the same part.

Acting has been in Blake's family for at least four generations, and his girlfriend is a fellow thespian as well. Now the Altona resident is rehearsing three times a week as Orin, a sadistic dentist, for the Williamstown Theatre Company production about love and a man-eating plant, which opens this Friday.

Turn to Page 6 for Kirsty Ross' story.

